

South Mountain Community College presents

TONI EUBANKS

“HISTORICAL FICTION: RESHAPING OUR PAST THROUGH STORIES UNTOLD” A Free Workshop for Writers

Saturday April 26, 2008 | 10:00 am - 12:00 pm

SOUTH MOUNTAIN COMMUNITY COLLEGE
Student Union
7050 S. 24th Street, Phoenix
(Just north of Baseline Road)

Admission is free!
RSVP to SMCC English Department 602.305.5771
sue.aroz@smccmail.maricopa.edu

We all have the need for story, for it is within the stories we read, write and listen to that we shape our relationships with people and with our past history.
Through story, we imagine what could have been or should have happened.

In this workshop, Ms. Eubanks will share how she developed her historical young adult novel, Passage to Womanhood: Journey Home.

She will also share her research methods and experiences in writing the first official Girl Scout historical novel, Octavia's Girl Scout Journey: Savannah, Georgia, 1916.

In this workshop, you will examine a colorful selection of children's historical fiction. Then you will select, on your own or from a list, a historical setting and a character—fictional or historical.
You will have a conversation with your character, identify plot and conflict, and learn the steps toward building your story.

SOUTH MOUNTAIN COMMUNITY COLLEGE
Helping you climb higher

7050 South 24th St. | Phoenix, AZ 85042

T: 602.243.8000 | www.southmountaincc.edu

AA/EEO